

Looking Back,

Moving Forward:

The Evolution of Malaria

A Worldwide Week at Harvard Event

Join us for a reflective look back on the history of neglected tropical diseases, and a future-oriented discussion of academia's role in setting the R&D agenda for malaria eradication by leading experts in the fields of global health delivery, medicine, health policy, and malaria research and development.

When:

Tuesday, October 24, 2017
12:00 – 1:30 PM
Lunch will be provided.

Where:

Snyder Auditorium, Kresge, G1
Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health

RSVP Today:

defeatingmalaria@harvard.edu

Opening Remarks:

Allan M. Brandt, PhD

Professor of the History of Science
Amalie Moses Kass Professor of the History of Medicine
Harvard University

Moderator & Speakers:

Regina Rabinovich, MPH, MD

ExxonMobil Malaria Scholar in Residence
Harvard University
Director, Malaria Elimination Initiative
Barcelona Institute for Global Health

Jesse Bump, PhD

Executive Director
Takemi Program in International Health
Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health

Conrad Keating

Writer in Residence
Wellcome Unit for the History of Medicine
Oxford University

Irene Koek

Senior Deputy Assistant
USAID Global Health Bureau
President's Malaria Initiative

Daniel Neafsey, PhD

Assistant Professor of Immunology & Infectious Diseases
Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health

Joseph Cook, MPH, MD

Adjunct Professor of Epidemiology
Gillings School of Global Public Health
University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Dyann F. Wirth, PhD

Richard Pearson Strong Professor and Chair
Department of Immunology & Infectious Diseases
Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health

Sponsored By:

Defeating Malaria
From the Genes to the Globe Initiative
Harvard University

HARVARD
T.H. CHAN

SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH

HARVARD
T.H. CHAN

SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH
Takemi Program
in International Health

